Bus crash kills seven children

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—State police today began an investigation into what caused a chartered bus to skid off a rainslicked highway Wednesday, killing seven children and injuring 52 other persons.

The bus plunged down a 50-foot embankment along a curved section of Interstate 78 marked "slippery when wet"—a portion of the highway which a local resident said has "one or two" accidents a month.

State police, joined by investigators of the National Transportation Safety Board, said the bus driver, Heiver Daye, could not be immediately questioned. He was in critical condition at an Allentown hospital.

Mrs. Carolyn Stettler, who lives one mile past the sign along the highway on what she called a bad curve, said "We have one or two accidents a month... every time it rains a little bit."

When she "heard a tremendous crash while I was ironing I knew it must be another accident. But when I ran outside I sure wasn't prepared to see what I did."

The blue and white bus, chartered by the plush Hillel School Day Camp for Jewish children at Larence, N.Y., a wealthy New York suburb, was filled with 61 persons—two drivers, 10 counselors and 49 boys and girls 11 and 12 years old on an overnight outing to the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

Moving along Interstate 78, the bus failed to negotiate the curve by Mrs. Stettler's house, spun on the wet highway, ripped through eight guardrails, and plunged 50 feet down the shale embankment, turning over repeatedly and coming to rest on its side.

Lompoc involved in budget waiting game

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series reviewing Lompoc's 1970-71 preliminary budget.)

By Ray McCuen
News Editor

The Lompoc City Council recently completed its first briefing on the preliminary 1970-71 budget then elected to put off further study until several major funding problems that popped up unexpectedly could be ironed out.

City Administrator Gene Wahlers asked for a month's delay to allow him to receive information regarding Lompoc's population and also to see what might happen to two bills pending in the state legislature that would allow the state to levy a tax against city owned electric utilities.

Accurate population figures are necessary to estimate certain revenue, amounting to thousands of dollars, from state refunds on gas and cigarette tax and motor vehicle license fees. It appears at the present time the population, and consequently the refunds, will be considerably lower than was estimated for the preliminary budget.

The original population figure released by the federal census bureau was more than 4,000 short of the most recent state estimate. The census bureau has since increased this by adding 1,516 from the Federal Correctional Institution.

Lompoc's official 1970 population now stands at 23,982 but this is still more than 2,000 short of the state estimate of 26,000 that was used in preparing the preliminary budget.

If either of the two legislative bills, one in the senate and one in the assembly, that would allow taxation of the city's electric utility were passed, another change would have to be made in the preliminary budget and the tax rate increased to make up a loss of as much as $67,000 in the general fund.

Troops run out of ammo

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian troops ran out of ammunition and retreated from Kirirom today after six days of costly counterattacks against guerrilla soldiers who seized the mountaintop resort village Saturday.

A military spokesman who announced the retreat disclosed too that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units attacked a government ammunition depot at Long Vek, 30 miles north of Phnom Penh, this morning and fighting was continuing at last report.

The level of Cambodian combat appeared to be increasing as South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon announced its 18,000-man task force in Cambodia killed 33 guerrillas Wednesday in two sharp clashes near the Vietnam border.

Pressure made him say 'spy'

HONG KONG (UPI)—Bishop James E. Walsh said today that never-ending mental pressures from his Chinese Communist interrogators finally broke him down into signing a statement that he was a "spy."

But the Roman Catholic prelate, released last Friday after 12 years imprisonment, said he had "no bitterness" toward the Chinese.

"I love the Chinese," he told newsmen here.

He said he was subjected to "just all mental pressure, no physical maltreatment of any sort" during his long years of confinement in a small room in Peking.

As for his admission that he was a "spy," Walsh said after intensive questioning for 18 months during which he refused to sign a confession "30 or 40 or 50 times," he could bear the pressure no longer.

Reagan wants voters to press for tax revision

MERCHANTS AND their clerks hammed it up with comic costumes today at the start of a three-day "Krazy Days" sidewalk sale featuring special sales by most Lompoc stores. Merchant Association officials selected six entries as winners in the annual costume contest. They are Randy McGlaughlin and Chris Miller, on left, a "mother" and daughter entry from Woolworth's; Ken Mustinick, as Dr. Livingston in pith helmet from Penney's; Chuck Jackson, as drug store cowboy from Picos; Becky Hartley, the "Dirty Old Man," from Crocker-Citizens Bank; Hazel McPhail, right, as the downtown clown from Braun's Pharmacy; and kneeling in front, Sue McElmurry and Karla Gilman, as a "worm" from Jay-Gee. The winners were selected during the hijinks of a kickoff breakfast.

Commission starts probe of unrest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The President's Commission on Student Unrest, in its initial look at dissent, has been given almost as many reasons for the problem as it had witnesses: boredom, the Vietnam War, racial prejudice, hypocrisy and the Nixon administration.

Almost the only agreement came from two student leaders, one black and one white, who predicted at Wednesday's opening hearing the commission's report would end up on the shelf along with the recent reports from similar commissions.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said campus violence could not be separated from the Indochina War, and suggested it was no coincidence shooting deaths of four Kent State university students came "hard on the heels of our invasion of Cambodia."

Glimpses

Small brown dog insisting on adopting Lompoc Police Department this morning.

Klerks wearing Krazy costumes to start Krazy Days sidewalk sale in Lompoc.

Charles F. Palmer, 23, president of the National Student Association which organized student strikes after the Cambodian incursion, disagreed Cambodia was the catalyst. Despite Nixon administration attempts to bill the 1969-70 academic year as a "quiet year," Palmer said, there were more disorders than ever and they began long before Cambodia.

Palmer said the real cause of student unrest stemmed more from the refusal of college administrators to give students a say in their affairs and to stop treating them like children.

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, tended to agree, but his solution was to let the "bored" bright student troublemakers out of their college "playpens" to spend two or three years working in the "real world" so they would appreciate a college education.

This drew fire from several commission members, and under questioning, Hayakawa amended his statement to exclude Negro student dissenters who he conceded had legitimate demands for more of the "fruits of our society."

But today Auditor A. T. Eaves Jr., noted as a hard man to get claims by unless fully documented, told the sheriff's office and supervisors:

—Twenty-eight cases of claims have been held up — totaling $1,164 — as the claims are said to be "not substantiated."

—Sheriff's personnel are assertedly being required to swear to County claims in blank in order for them to be paid for their overtime.

—Attorneys for the Sheriff's

18-year-old vote okayed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly, in a move to invite young people "inside the system," has approved legislation giving 18-year-old Californians the right to vote and share other responsibilities of adults.

Gov. Ronald Reagan told newsmen Wednesday he "leaned away" from giving the vote to 18-year-olds but added, "I think full citizenship has to go with it if you're going to have the right to vote."

The proposed constitutional amendment by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton, was sent to the Senate on a 58-45 vote—in what was believed to be the first time in California history that such a measure cleared either house.

Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, said passage meant the Assembly was telling young people, "We trust you. We invite you inside the system."

The proposal lowers the age of legal adulthood from 21 to 18. If it clears the Senate and is approved by voters in November, 18-year-olds will be allowed to vote, serve on juries, run for public office, sign contracts, and be liable for debts.

But the measure does not allow 18-year-olds to drink.

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan appealed to California voters today to put pressure on Democratic state senators to approve the administration's $1 billion tax revision plan.

And, Reagan said he was "reasonably optimistic" no new taxes would be required next year despite insistence of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Jess Unruh that a minimum increase of $400 million will be necessary.

"Our goal is to come forth with a balanced budget with no tax increase," the governor told a news conference Wednesday. He declined to rule out new taxes completely.

He repeated his belief that federally mandated welfare programs and increased costs of education could dictate new taxes in 1971.

The governor issued a personal appeal to voters to intercede on his behalf in a battle with Democrats in the Senate where his tax program has one more hurdle to clear.

Democrats hope to block his two-bill package on the floor and substitute their own rival proposal.

Reagan accused the Democrats of devising "hurriedly dreamed-up alternatives which are political expediences designed to obstruct true tax reform."

"Their ill-conceived program would offer a limited measure of property tax relief and finance it by increases in income taxes for the lower and middle income earner," he added.

Reagan said his Assembly passed package would provide "meaningful and lasting property tax relief" and noted the Senate is the last obstacle in achieving it.

"I am therefore urging all Californians to let their senators know that property tax relief can be accomplished now," he said.

The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday approved the tax reshuffle program after rejecting attempts by Democrats to amend their own program into it.

But Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Rail Road Flat, promised to try again on the floor, where the Democrats enjoy a stronger bargaining position.

There are 20 Republicans, 19 Democrats and one vacancy in the upper house. It takes 21 votes to pass one of the governor's bills and 27 votes for the other. Democrats say they have enough support to stymie one of them.

The governor's program would grant between 20 per cent and 40 per cent property tax relief to homeowners and a $50 state income tax credit to renters.

Auditor claims problems with overtime pay

County supervisors, who earlier this week approved June riot-control overtime payments estimated at $150,000, today learned from the county auditor that sheriff's department claims from the April riots in Isla Vista have not been substantiated in a number of cases.

The supervisors have set up a policy paying many sheriff's officers, excluding inspectors, at time and one-half cash payment for overtime resulting from the Isla Vista situation.

Relief and Benefit Assn. allegedly brought the blank claim signing matter to the auditor's attention.

Eaves told the sheriff's office: "The procedure of securing claims signed in blank from employees must be stopped."

Eaves said that a post audit of the April claims "indicate numerous irregularities and the probable over and under payment to certain individuals."

Eaves' letter was sent off after his office received a communication from Allan S. Ghitlerman. Ghitlerman's office represents the Sheriff's Benefit and Relief Assn. in legal matters.

Ghitlerman said he has been advised that "several deputies have been required to execute blank certifications of the overtime hours." The attorney said in one case a deputy refusing to execute a blank certification "was informed by an inspector that his failure to do so would act as a basis for denying him payment for overtime work."

Cambodia action has stymied Communist drive

SAIGON (UPI)—The chief of staff of the U.S. Army, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, said today the Allied thrust into Cambodia has robbed the Communist command of any ability to mount a major offensive in the Southern half of the Vietnam War zone.

"The enemy does have the capability in the Northern areas," the former commander of American troops in Vietnam told a news conference upon concluding a five-day inspection visit. "Whether he will or not, I don't know."

Westmoreland said "the decision to move into the enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia... is one of the most significant benchmarks in the history of this conflict. It had and continues to have a profound effect on the security of the (Mekong) Delta and of the III Corps area (around Saigon)."

"I don't believe it is conceivable that the Communists have the strength to launch a major offensive in the Saigon area, the III Corps area or the delta," he said. The areas he mentioned compose the Southern half of South Vietnam.

As for the northern half, Allied headquarters has said it expects a guerrilla offensive there since the area borders Laos and was not fully affected by the Cambodia incursion.

"The enemy has dissipated his forces" fighting in Cambodia and Laos," Westmoreland asserted. "It would be difficult to concentrate his forces, but he can do this."

This was the four-star general's first visit to the war zone since he turned over the Vietnam command in 1968 to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams.

"I am quite encouraged by what I've seen," he said, citing roads that have been opened and the progress of the so-called Vietnamization program coinciding with the American disengagement.

Unborn baby's death could be called murder

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The killer of an unborn baby could be prosecuted for murder under a bill which today reached the Assembly floor.

Approved Wednesday by the Criminal Procedure Committee, the measure by Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, would include unborn fetuses in the definition of human being used in murder and manslaughter laws.

He told the committee the bill would bring "the intentional unlawful killing of a fetus" under the laws.

The lawmaker introduced the bill last month after the state Supreme Court ruled that a fetus could not be considered a human being under the legal definition of murder. Biddle said he was "shocked and disappointed" at the ruling and introduced his bill "in direct response."

Originally the bill covered the killing of a fetus past the 20th week of pregnancy, but Biddle amended it to include fetuses at any stage of development.

Abortions legal under present law would remain legal, he said. And any abortion, legal or illegal, performed with the consent of the mother would not be murder. It would be prosecuted under abortion laws.

Nation's weather

By United Press International

Brisk winds swept a hot and muggy air mass off the Midlands today, squeezing scattered thundershowers onto the East and South.

Moist tropical air from the Gulf of Mexico brought more showers and thunderstorms from the Southern Plains across the Southeast and into the Northeast.

About 20 families were forced to evacuate their homes because of roof damage in suburban Garfield Heights, near Cleveland, Ohio, Wednesday as high winds downed trees and power lines. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

A thunderstorm in Allentown, Pa., caused slippery roads and was believed responsible for a bus accident that claimed at least seven lives and injured 51.

Winds of 60 miles an hour flattened an airport hangar, destroyed four private airplanes and extensively damaged five others at Cherokee, Iowa.

Nearly one inch of rain drenched Little Rock, Ark., late Wednesday.

Many will die in next major quake

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The next great earthquake in the San Francisco Bay area will kill an "inestimable" number of persons and cause property damage in excess of $30 billion, a state legislative committee predicts.

The legislature's joint committee on seismic safety told a news conference Wednesday there would be damage from Santa Rosa to Hollister, that several highrise buildings would topple and that some dams would break.

Committeemen noted that major quakes can be expected every 60 to 100 years, although they can not yet be accurately predicted.

The San Francisco quake of 1906, the most damaging to a city in United States history, was followed by a three-day fire, and resulted in 452 deaths and a property loss of $500 million.

Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, the committee chairman, said his group would develop a program to minimize the effects of future quakes along the San Andreas Fault.

He predicted recommendations would include restrictions on land use, since quakes strike hardest at structures on filled land.

Local governments now control land use but Alquist noted the state had set two precedents recently — placing limitations on construction in flood plans and forming the bay conservation and development commission. The commission regulates development in this area.

Committeemen also said that another great earthquake, one of at least a 7.7 rating on the Richter Scale, would damage water mains and power lines, close highways with landslides and leave thousands homeless. The 1906 quake registered 8.25.

Man kills 3 in Chrysler plant

DETROIT (UPI)—An Army veteran, angry at being suspended from a Chrysler Corp. axle plant only a month after leaving the unemployment rolls, returned to the factory two hours later and killed three workers with an M1.

One of the victims was the foreman he felt was responsible for the disciplinary action, witnesses said.

James Johnson Jr., 35, carrying an M1 he had smuggled into the plant Wednesday and yelling "get the hell out of my way," fired between 8 and 12 shots while running down the narrow corridors between conveyor belts, parts bins and machinery, police said.

He found his first victim, Hugh Jones, 44, the foreman who had sent Johnson home for refusing to obey an order, in the brake shoe department. Johnson fired several shots from the semiautomatic weapon, a police said, and Jones, a Chrysler employe for 22 years, fell dead in front of a time clock.

"I was standing right there watching him when he shot this guy (Jones) five times," said Edward Lacey, 34. "I was standing about 40 feet away. He was standing right over him, pumping bullets into him."

Johnson, witnesses said, then ran down an aisle, turned to the left and shot his second victim, Gary Hinz, 32, another foreman, who died in the midst of bins of brake shoes.

The next fatal shooting, that of Joseph Kowalski, 45, who was standing next to a welding machine, followed a struggle for the weapon between Johnson and an unidentified worker who was yelling "get the gun."

Three other workers in that section of the Eldon Avenue plant suffered minor injuries in a mad scramble to stay out of the range of fire, plant officials said. M. J. Ellis, a job setter, said he heard noise, turned around and "saw this guy with a gun and I ducked."

Missouri legislator shot to death

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Leon M. Jordan was not just another black cop.

The Kansas City Police Department sent Jordan to West Africa when Liberia asked for help in reorganizing their vice force. Jordan finished the job during two leaves of absence.

Jordan left the Police Department seven years ago and together with Bruce R. Watkins formed an organization called Freedom, Inc. It was designed to help blacks get elected to state offices. The next year, in 1964, Jordan and Harold L. Holliday, another Kansas City Negro, were elected to the Missouri General Assembly.

Three shotgun blasts killed Jordan Wednesday as he stepped from the Green Duck Tavern, a bar he purchased in 1955. It was frequented by the city's leading politicians.

"If this act was intended to throw fear in to the members and leaders of Freedom, Inc., they missed the point," Holliday said. "Every time they strike down one of us, 10 will rise to carry on the job."

Police were at a loss to explain the assassination. And witnesses, though cooperative, told varying accounts of the killing.

The first witnesses said Jordan was killed by three blacks firing from a speeding car. Another witness said one round was fired at Jordan from a car, then an assailant stepped from the car and fired two more shots at point-blank range.

National emergency in Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Edward Heath met with his Cabinet today to proclaim a state of national emergency and authorize possible use of troops in Britain's first total seaports shutdown in 44 years.

More than 200 ships were stranded in ports throughout the country without longshoremen to load or unload them. Many others had put to sea hurriedly to beat the walkout deadline.

Britain's 47,000 longshoremen struck all 40 ports in the country Wednesday for the first time since the 1926 general strike.

They did so to back an 80 per cent pay hike demand after rejecting an employers' offer of about 7 per cent.

Officials said troops were alerted in camps near major seaports to be ready to unload vital cargoes of perishable foodstuffs, however, they said the government was unlikely to call them in while there was even a flicker of a chance of getting the two sides together.

Union leaders and port employers left a meeting Wednesday night admitting "total deadlock." There were no plans to resume talks.

Militant longshoremen's leaders said use of troops would make the crisis "much more serious."

"If the army comes in, we will not try to stop them," Ernie Rice, a union official, told London dockers. "But if they come in, matters will not be improved. In fact, the whole thing will be made much more serious."

The stock market, which dropped 11 points in the Financial Times index Wednesday after the walkout decision, slid further downhill at this morning's opening. Industrial shares were particularly weak.

Cunard Lines said the Queen Elizabeth 2 will sail from Southampton for New York on scheduled Friday but passengers will be allowed to bring only personal hand baggage aboard.

Crewmembers and the Cunard office staff helped 2,800 passengers carry their baggage ashore when the liner docked at Southampton Wednesday.

Crewmembers and the Cunard office staff helped 2,800 passengers carry their baggage ashore when the liner docked at Southampton Wednesday. Six hundred mailbags and 22 automobiles belonging to passengers remained on board.

RESIGNS — Britt Johnson, secretary of the County Planning Commission, submitted his resignation Wednesday at a meeting of the County Employees Retirement Assn. board of directors. Johnson informed the board that he has not been able to attend the monthly sessions of the board — held on the third Wednesday — because the planning body meets that day each week.

REVENUE — Investment of temporary surplus moneys of the county government netted interest of $22,694 during the month of June. County Treasurer Edward A. McMillan said that the interest was earned on "investments of short term surplus" on U.S. Treasury notes and bonds. Amounts invested for the short periods ranged from $1 million to $4 million.

WINNER — Mrs. Robert D. Maxwell of 1216 N. First Place, Lompoc, returned from her vacation this week to discover that she was the winner of a four-foot high stuffed "Enco Tiger" that was given away by Norris Akins during the grand opening of Akins Enco at the corner of North H Street and Central Avenue two weeks ago. Mrs. Maxwell, in turn, gave the tiger to her 11-year-old daughter Sandra.

OFFICE HOURS — Francis H. Beattie, Fourth District Supervisor announced that he will be available Friday, to discuss county matters with residents of the area. Beattie also announced that scheduled appointments are not necessary but pointed out that anyone who desires to reserve a particular time may do so by calling the county office, telephone number 736-3411.

ACCIDENT — Airman I.C. William K. Griffiths, 21, of Vandenberg Air Force Base, apparently escaped injury this morning when his car struck an abutment of the Vandenberg Village overpass at Constellation Road. Griffiths was taken to the base hospital for treatment. Hospital officials said his car was heavily damaged.

FIRE — County fire officials today blamed children playing with matches for a fire that blackened about an acre and a half of brushland behind La Mesa School on Jupiter Avenue. Vandenberg Village. No structures were damaged. The incident was reported shortly before 1 p.m. yesterday.

BARBECUE — Local 1001 of the National Federation of Federal Employees will hold its annual barbecue Sunday at area 10 of Waller Park in Santa Maria starting at noon. The price of the ticket (adults $2.50, juniors $1.50, children, under 10, 50 cents) will include barbecued beef prepared by Frank Cordero, chicken, salad, beans, and coffee with free cold drinks. The public is invited and tickets can be purchased by calling Andrew Sanchez, RE 3-4290. This is the first major event planned by the federation since gaining exclusive recognition. There will be musical entertainment and games and prizes for the children.

CORRECTION — The Rice Bowl Cafe will not be able to honor the offer of free almond cookies as part of their anniversary special advertised in Wednesday's Record. Due to unseen circumstances the cookies are not available. The special daily lunch includes one American, as well as the Chinese lunch advertised.

Supervisors will try to resolve welfare, budget problems today

The Board of Supervisors will meet this afternoon at a final public hearing on the 1970-71 county budget to try to resolve a suddenly chaotic welfare program. "It could be a give and take situation," one county official commented. "We could save money by bringing about staffing reductions on one side of the ledger, as directed by the state. But we could add to taxes on the other side by having to send helpless persons off to costly institutions by having the state reduce attendant care."

The welfare picture began to assume serious new proportions a few days ago as a squabble developed over asserted non-compliance by the state with Federal regulations regarding payment to families with dependent children. California is not paying enough, Federal officials said. Gov. Reagan then issued orders to cut down on attendants for disabled and other welfare recipients and on county welfare department staffs.

Subdivision committee to discuss two large planned developments

The County Subdivision Committee is scheduled today to take up matters of two proposed giant developments in the South Coast area — the Macco Corp. recreational-commercial complex west of Gaviota, and the highly controversial first phase residential development of El Capitan Ranch. The subdivision committee meets in the County Engineering Department building in Santa Barbara. It is made up largely of county department heads whose offices are involved in setting conditions for the projects should they be approved. Macco's proposed development involves a large number of recreational vehicles which could be placed on the former Hollister Ranch, and also possibly module homes. Two recreational complexes are proposed to serve the recreation areas.

First phase development of the residential areas of El Capitan Ranch, owned by Jules Berman, involves Pacific American Development Co. The eastern portion of the ranch is slated for the early development unless a rezoning granted by county supervisors giving the owner permission to provide more than 1,500 homesites is defeated by a county-wide referendum election. Conservationists are seeking to place such a measure on the ballot, and have enough signatures for such an election, says County Clerk J. E. Lewis.

Route 1 shoulders to be paved

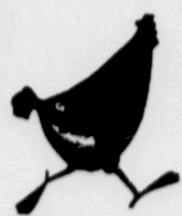

The State Highway Commission yesterday allocated $43,500 for the paving of Route 1 shoulders beginning near Lompoc - Casmalia Road and ending at Burton Mess Road north of Lompoc.

In the area, Route 1 is only 20 feet wide with soft, sandy shoulders. Pedestrians, bicyclists and horsemen encroach on the road lanes because of the unsatisfactory terrain.

The portion of highway is scheduled to become a frontage road in conjunction with the proposed bypassing of Lompoc by future freeway construction. That project is tentatively scheduled for budgeting in three years.

The commission's approval was based on the favorable recommendations of Commissioner Robert E. Herdman of Solvang.

Dean Martin to back Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Dean Martin, an active fundraiser for Democrats and an old Hollywood "ratpack" pal of Frank Sinatra, has joined the reelection campaign of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Martin and Sinatra, who endorsed the governor last week, will be associated with "Californians for Reagan," a group of Democrats supporting the Republican incumbent over Democratic challenger Jess Unruh.

A spokesman for Unruh declined comment on Martin's support but said, "We're lining up our own entertainment committee."

Jack McDowell, a spokesman for Reagan's campaign organization, said "Dino volunteered" the endorsement and "subsequent to that the governor talked to him on the phone."

Barbara Jean Hill, 19, daughter of Ethel Johnson Hill, 300 E. North Ave., Lompoc, was killed yesterday when the small foreign car she was driving flipped over on Highway 101 near Canoga Park.

Miss Hill was pronounced dead at the scene, according to the California Highway Patrol. A passenger, Margaret Sinclair, 17, who apparently roomed with Miss Hill in Santa Maria, suffered minor injuries. A second passenger, Michael Wood, 19, of Santa Monica, escaped injury.

CHP investigators said the car flipped over three times, ejecting Miss Hill and falling on top of her. The two passengers remained in the car.

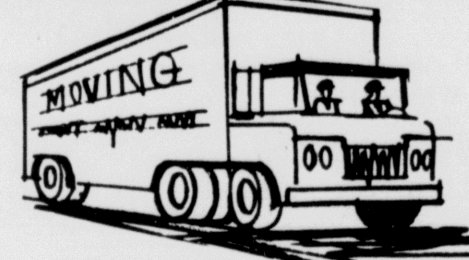

The officers said the car was northbound near Las Virgenes Canyon Road, when a front tire apparently went flat causing Miss Hill to lose control of the vehicle. The tragedy occurred at 2:20 p.m. yesterday.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at McPeck Family Mortuary.

Norma Stillman wins perpetual trophy

following the tournament play in the club grounds. Purchased by the retiring board of the association, the trophy will be retained by Mrs. Stillman until the second annual tournament in 1971. Each winner's name will be engraved upon the trophy plaque.

Golf tournament is annual event

Honored by the management recently with Thomas Mackie as host were past officers of the Vandenberg Village Country Club Women's Golf Association. Providing the entertainment was a luncheon and special "tin whistle" tournament. Conducting the latter was its originator, Mrs. Duke Campbell.

Presented to the winner, Norma Stillman, was the group's first perpetual trophy, the gift of outgoing board members: Joyce Campbell, Carol Bratz, Wanda Pendley, Ann Lewis, Ruth Klitz, Wilma Lilly, Betty Lechner and Alice Watts.

Prize runner-up was Ann Lewis who scored 40 points against her opponent's 41. Both winners were given engraved medallions. Mrs. Stillman's name will be engraved as first winner, on the trophy, and she will retain possession until the second annual tournament next year.

Attending the special event from out of town were Mrs. Frank Warden of San Luis Obispo; Mrs. Ken Giffin, Newhall; Mrs. Orville Welch, Lancaster; and Mrs. Stanley Knapp of Saratoga. Present were 23 ladies, 19 of whom participated in the tournament play. Eligible for play were 43.

Ladies Day at the club July 14 was "net score minus your worst hole." Participating were 38 ladies. Winners were:

First flight—Edna Sanley, first; Jean Sullivan and Marguerite Bledsoe, tied for second.

Second flight—Dorothy MacClure, first; Priscilla Hefflin, second; Shirley Jackson, third.

Third flight—Eleanor Gray, first; Elsie Briscoe, second; Jean Fuller, Alma Clark, Ann Lewis, tied for third.

Fourth flight—Elizabeth Gould, first; Gladys Stock, second; Betty Fisher, third.

Merrijane Pritchard is Credit Women's speaker

Merrijane Pritchard, a Toastmistress Club past president, and director of Lompoc Welcome Wagon, was the guest speaker Tuesday night for Credit Women International of Lompoc. "Women in the Business World" was her interesting subject. Discussed was the proper approach to those in the business world; how to work with executives, and how to best perform one's duties.

Among the 28 women present for the dinner event at the Lion's Inn were guests: the Mmes. Joe Sesto, Frank Martinez, Dale Batchelor, Phil Careyette, Melvin Burnett, Charles Blackburn, John Dematteis, and from Santa Maria, Dick Wamsley of the Credit Bureau.

Puppy hides the golden slipper

Dining and dancing aboard the ferry boat Marietta, tied to the Coronada Art Club pier was a vacation pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. John McAllister, 214 E. Locust Ave. The occasion was the commander's dinner. Only one incident marred the party for Mrs. McAllister, a missing gold slipper to match her gown. Susie, the family poodle-schnauzer had made away with one of the pair, hiding it successfully until after the party.

The McAllisters were guests in Coronado of old-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norris and of Dr. Martin Wicarius on whose boat they cruised for three days and two nights.

Motoring back to Lompoc the couple spent a few days at home prior to a trip to the San Francisco area, where they visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John McAllister, Jr., Steven, Robert and Sharon at Moraga. There the visitors encountered the heaviest rainstorm of the area in 82 years, a three day downpour which curtailed planned side trips for the group.

Companions host dime-a-dip meal

Well attended was the dime - a - dip dinner which preceded the Monday meeting of Honda Circle 708, Companions of the Forest of America. The group meets twice monthly in Chemical Workers Union Hall.

Appointed by Delilah Riley, worthy chief companion, as publicity book chairman was Virginia Grossini. Presenting four new rituals from the Past Chiefs Club was Mrs. Marcus Bounds, deputy grand chief companion.

Members voted donation to the hospital of some of the egg carton flowers which they had recently made. Others will be reserved for members as gifts when sick.

Mrs. Lurene Beattie and Frances Domingos reported on their recent trip to Santa Cruz for the reception of Helyn Spotts, grand chief companion of California.

Officers practice was held and will be repeated at the meeting Monday, July 27.

Shriners to entertain families at potluck

Announced by Charles Lewis, president, is the Lompoc Shrine Club picnic for members and their families this Sunday at Miguelito Park. The potluck affair will start at 1 p.m.

Slated for Saturday evening, July 25, is a dinner-dance event in the Santa Maria Elks Club to honor Al Malaikah Shrine Potentate Paul E. Smith of Los Angeles. Local Shriners and their ladies will join in welcoming Smith and his entourage at the semi-formal occasion. Eight of the group will stop in Lompoc Saturday morning for a golf game with Lompoc Shrine members at the Village Country Club.

S. B. Museum of Art slates film series

Ancient art of the Eastern Mediterranean area will be discussed in an illustrated lecture at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art on Thursday, July 23 at 2 o'clock.

The forms of the Santa Barbara Marbles in the Ludington Court and loggia of the museum were originated on the islands and shores of the Eastern Mediterranean Sea. The atmosphere of the early civilizations will form the basis for a talk by Vern Swansen, the museum's curator of education.

Thursday afternoon programs at the museum are open to the public at no charge.

Scheduled the evening of July 23 at 8 o'clock and again Saturday and Sunday July 25 and 26 at 2 p.m. is a lively group of short films about painters, sculptors and a photographer. Four of the five films are in color. Showings will be in the museum auditorium.

Acclaimed "probably the most beautiful film on art hitherto produced." The World of Paul Delvaux gives a breath-taking vision of the dream world. It is a film in which all the magic of the unfamiliar comes into play. The accompanying poem was written and spoken by Paul Eluard; music is by Andre Souris. The 12 minute film is in black and white.

The Reality of Karel Appel is a portrait of an action painter in action. The internationally-known artist is of the abstract expressionist school — a Hollander living in Paris. The film is an essay on his milieu and his expression of that milieu with paint. Music is by Appel and Dizzy Gillespie. The color film runs 13 minutes.

The Weapons of Gordon Parks is a film which takes a sociological point of view in presenting the life and work of LIFE photo-journalist Gordon Parks. Parks' weapons against poverty and prejudice are his talents and interests, at work and at leisure. The 28 minute color film is produced and directed by Warren Forma.

In color is the 15 minute film on Henri Rousseau. Reality or fantasy, his sensibility is here conveyed as an enchanting film which uses poetic cinematic style and a lively sound track.

The public is welcome to all performances. Admission is 85 cents; for members, 50 cents.

Dear Abby 'Bad' films rarely as 'good' as hoped

DEAR ABBY, I can't understand why people go to a movie and then afterwards tell everybody how filthy and disgusting it was!

Movies are rated, so they surely must know what kind of movie they are buying a ticket to see. They know in advance whether there will be nude scenes or rough language, so if that sort of thing offends them, why don't they stay home? Right or wrong?

SICK OF HYPOCRITES DEAR SICK: You're right of course (Such movies are rarely as "good" as expected — and by that I mean as "bad" as the viewer hoped they'd be.)

DEAR ABBY: We have a long-haired son. He is of age and was married in college. He wrote and asked if he could bring his bride to our home until he finds suitable work. We feel that his hair style is hurting his chances of getting a job. One prospective employer said he'd hire him if he cut his hair and shaved off his beard. Our son refused on the grounds that he didn't want to compromise with principles.

Abby, should we welcome him home with his bride when he has that attitude? We are undecided. We want to help him, but we don't want to go along with something we feel is hindering him. We don't support this long hair look and feel it may be a long stay at home if the hair stays. Please advise?

MONTANA PARENTS

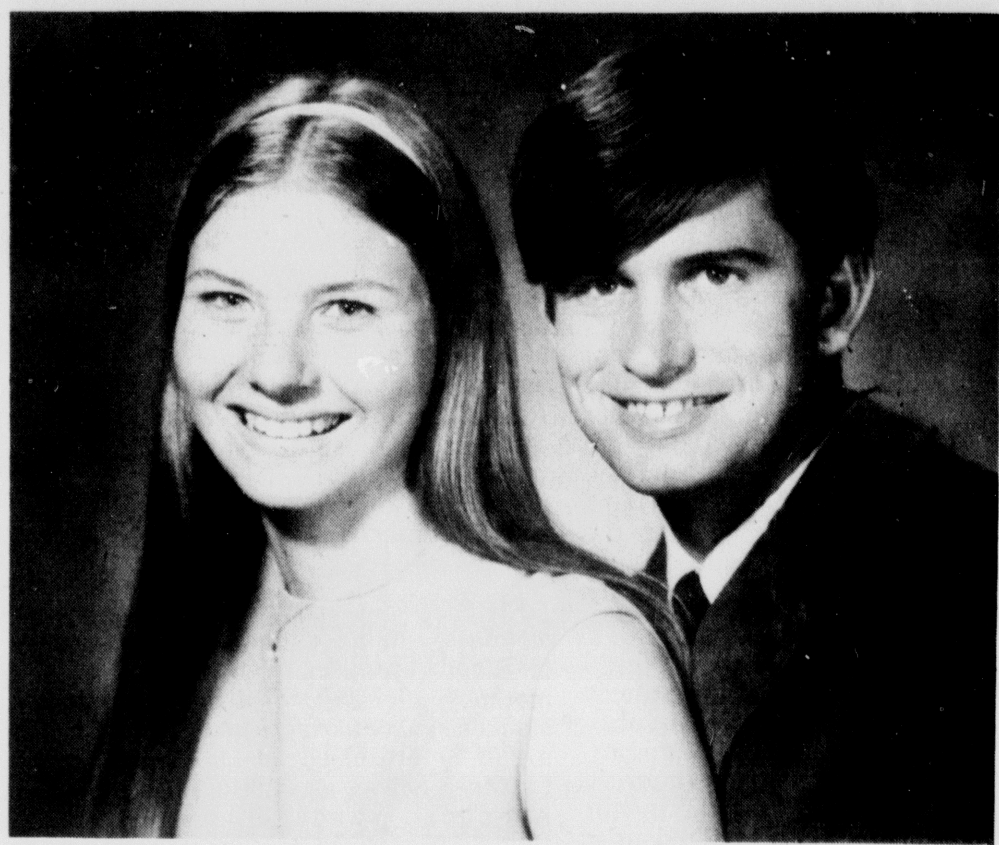

DEAR PARENTS: If you really want to help your son, don't offer him bread with a hook in it. Let him bring his bride home to you, and don't tell him how to comb his hair. Also, a man who's old enough to shave is old enough to decide whether he WANTS to or not. If your son is actually unemployable because of his hair, he'll find out — which is the best way to learn.

DEAR ABBY: An obviously misinformed correspondent recently wrote and said, "so many countries, like Samoa, have 'relaxed marital codes,' " and you let it pass as it were a fact.

As a native Samoan, I must protest. Margaret Mead notwithstanding, Samoan culture embodies the highest ideals of Christianity, which in all likelihood surpasses those found in 1970 American society. Certainly in Samoa today one doesn't find the disintegration of the family unit found in the United States.

So please inform your untutored and misinformed correspondent, as well as your readers who may still be relying on outdated information, that modern-day Samoans are not living in a free love paradise.

MODERN ISLANDER

BETROTHAL of Miss Sara Ann Loney to Paul Henry Talbert has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Loney, 1516 W. Pine Ave. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Talbert of Waldo, Fla. The bride-elect is a June graduate of Lompoc High School. A 1964 graduate of Gainesville (Fla.)

High School, her fiance attended St. John's Jr. College, Palatka, Fla. and Santa Fe Jr. College, Gainesville. He is currently stationed in Little Rock, Ark. with the United States Air Force. The couple plans to be wed December 12 at the Church of Christ.

Summer school program inaugurated by LoVARC

Last Thursday, July 2, the Lompoc Valley Association for Retarded Children (LoVARC) began a summer school program for Lompoc Valley's adult retarded, ages 18 and over. Although the program of music, arts, crafts, recreation and some selective vocational training is in operation during the normal school year, this is the first time it has been offered during the summer months. Held at Mission Hills Community Center, the LoVARC Activity Center is operating from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The Center is staffed by a director, Mrs. Jerry Beth, and volunteers from the community. Information and registration forms may be obtained through a call to Mrs. Robert Leonard, RE 6-5815.

On July 13, the LoVARC preschool opened their summer session for the remainder of July and the entire month of August. Music, arts, and crafts, social skills, speech development and physical education will be offered to any retarded youngster, ages two to five on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:30 a.m. until noon at the Peace Lutheran Church, 1000 W. Ocean Ave. The director is Mrs. William Mason who is aided by Volunteers from the Youth California Council for Retarded Children and others from the community. For information and registration forms, call Mrs. Fritz Nelson, RE 4-4111.

GENEROUSITY of three local civic clubs, Active 20-30, Rotary and Jr. Alpha, will enable five additional youngsters to attend the summer camp for special classes July 18-22 at San Marcos Baptist Camp. Pictured center, is Mrs. Quentin Best, religious education chairman of Lompoc Valley Association for Retarded Children, receiving checks from Mrs.

Maynard Steffen of Jr. Alpha Club and Mike Marshall, president of 20-30 Club. Rotary's check had already been received. The camp, co-sponsored by LoVARC and First Baptist Church of Lompoc, will include nature crafts, games, pool activities and hiking for 17 boys and girls, ages 9-14, with varying handicaps.

Your birthday

By Stella

THURSDAY, JULY 16 — Born today, you are inclined toward permissiveness whether in the case of others or for yourself. "Live and let live" is your motto — but it is one which you should temper with a realization of other people in society, of a good, basic code of ethics, and with enough strength of character to stick to behavior standards which you know are acceptable. You are wise in the ways of the world and, therefore, should need no one to tell you that a certain amount of discipline is essential.

There was a time in the distant past when a man who opened with a forcing two bid and couldn't make game was somewhat of a pariah. Today we are much more sensible and there are just three general requirements for this bid. The first is that you want to be in game irrespective of partner's hand. The second that you have so many high cards that you are afraid that a one bid will be passed out. The third that your hand shows distinct slam possibilities.

South's hand met all these requirements nicely and he was fully justified in opening with two. Furthermore, he should have made game in spite of the frightful hand placed on the table by his partner.

South was finesse happy. He looked over dummy and saw that the nine of trumps would be an entry. That would give him a chance to try the diamond finesse and, if it worked, he would have his 10th trick.

He ruffed the second club, cashed the ace and king of trumps and ace of diamonds, entered dummy with that nine of trumps, lost the diamond finesse and was down one.

We have no objection to the finesse. It is a fine play but it is only 50-50. South should have made his contract without it. He should have played one round of trumps to start his campaign and then continue by playing ace and another heart. When he got in next, he should have led out his last heart. This would set up dummy's six of hearts as a winner. He could get there with the nine of trumps and discard his jack of diamonds.

Of course, suits don't have to break 3-3, but if hearts failed to break he would still have been able to try the finesse.

You have a great urge for freedom and are inclined, therefore, to have considerable difficulty accepting any authority but your own. When it comes to your career, however, it is to be hoped that you are wise enough to realize that neither you nor anyone else can start at the top. Learn to accept authority when you are first starting out; it will help you to dispense with it gracefully later, when you are yourself in a high position.

You have tremendous tolerance of people, of situations, of circumstances. Your personal relationships are rooted in mutual loyalty and love. Your outgoing nature never fails to enable you to meet people more than halfway, while your understanding of basic human frailty enables you to accept the foibles of others without annoyance.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, July 17
CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — Your employer deserves punctuality. Make it a point to be on the job in good time; you'll be glad of it later.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — Be considerate of another's time. Don't tax either patience or awareness by prolonging your story. Be as succinct as possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Protect whatever is of value to you. There are those close to you who can be of very great help to you at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — What you take to be of minor significance at this time may prove soon to have been of major importance. Don't stint on detail.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) — The less you criticize another, the less you will be criticized yourself. If you can't say something constructive, be silent.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — Those whom you admire should be emulated. Don't be too shy to take advantage of another's offer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Eyes and ears open to the events of the day. You have an excellent chance now to take a big step forward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — An in-between day which could mean the first step upward or a step backward. All depends upon your choices.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 21) — You should succeed greatly in public affairs at this time. Use your ability.

DEAR POLLY—Marion could wipe dry the areas, such as faucets, that have a lime deposit and then pour on undiluted vinegar and let it stand about an hour and the lime should wipe off. Where the vinegar runs off too fast lay a cloth or paper towel saturated with vinegar over the spot and let it stand as above. More than one application may be necessary for heavily built up spots.

When a new leather shoe burns, sponge that spot on the inside with undiluted vinegar and wear it while damp to take the burn out of the leather. White vinegar should be used so as not to stain the shoe. I find this is even safe for white shoes. I once read this in an English magazine and found it really works.—DORIS

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Marion that I remove white lime deposits from my sink and chrome by using a thin paste of vinegar and baking soda. Leave it on a few minutes. Scrubbing with a toothbrush dipped in more baking soda finishes up the job in good shape.—MARY W.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I am among the college boys who like to cut off jeans at the bottom but the only drawback is my mother. She says the dangling strings get caught in the washer and cause it to need repair. I want to know if there is some solution to this.—BOB

DEAR POLLY—It is sandbox time. Perhaps someone would like to make one like I made by turning an old kitchen table (with a deep apron around the sides) upside down and filling it with sand. The four legs support the canopy made with either a bath towel or a piece of plastic.—MRS. A. T.

DEAR POLLY—When putting photos in an album I use cotton-tipped baby sticks which are dipped in a cup of water for moistening the corner fasteners.—JUDY

How's Your Irritation Index?

By BETTY CANARY

I read a quotation saying a coward dies a thousand deaths, the hero dies but one. I had just finished hearing the weather forecast on my favorite news program and I began wondering if perhaps all this advance meteorological information isn't making, if not cowards, neurotics of us all. At the least it has had a profound influence on the way we live our lives.

Of course, we're more than happy to get the warning about a tornado being in the vicinity, but do we need the knowledge that tomorrow it's going to be 101 in the deep shade? Those of another generation reached the end of such a day, wiped their brows and said, "Today was a real scorcher!" Now we not only live through today, we also have an opportunity to appreciate how miserable we're going to feel.

No, we can't abolish weather forecasts. How would a woman know to bake that chicken tonight at midnight instead of tomorrow morning? Those flying planes and kites need the wind velocity and direction; fishermen have the right to know the water temperature; the community action committees need the pollution rating in order to keep industrial control up to snuff. And, speaking of snuff, those with hay fever and asthma really benefit by the predicted pollen count.

Everything considered, this kind of crystal ball gazing is a good thing. Perhaps we should even bring the idea closer to home. After all, in years gone by, the only way a man could tell the mood of his wife was by tossing his hat in the back door when he returned from work. (If she threw it back, it was That Kind of Day.)

In this technological age, the least every wife can do for her husband is make up an Irritation Index and post it outside the kitchen door. When her husband comes home he can check on the indoor emotional climate. Each woman knows her own emotional peaks and valleys and therefore must make up individual charts. The following is to help her get started.

Check on appropriate day:

1. There's ice-cold beer in the fridge. Honey.
2. Caution! Woman Wilting.
3. Beware! And we're having sandwiches tonight.
4. I'm dressing to go out to dinner.

Women will benefit greatly from knowing the husbands' Irritation Index on any afternoon. He can slip quietly inside the front door and mark his chart for her evaluation before he heads hers in the kitchen. Suggested levels:

1. Wow! Am I glad to be home!

Kading rules on Isla Vista

County Counsel George Kading ruled this week the Board of Supervisors could not legally invoke a moratorium on private building in Isla Vista as sought by Isla Vista Community Council.

The council, an elective community body without political power, had taken the position a ban should be imposed pending drawing up of a suitable master plan for Isla Vista.

Supervisors were asked to set a temporary moratorium, of a "month or two."

Isla Vista developer-landlord Jack Schwartz protested. He said he felt it was not legal to prevent a property owner from getting a permit for a project in accord with zoning.

But Schwartz admitted: "We can't build anything anyway now, as there are no loans to be gotten. But if we are fortunate to get loans, we won't just sit there and pay taxes. A moratorium doesn't make sense."

The supervisors voted to file the letter from the council, which had also the moratorium to apply on public as well as private building, improvements and zoning changes. A copy will be sent to the Planning Department, however.

The Isla Vista council has taken the position rezonings to allow greater residential density in an already highly populated residential community would intensify problems cited by some as being contributory to the series of Isla Vista disorders this year.

Clark honored by Jaycees

William J. Clark has been selected as "Young Man of the Month" for July by the Lompoc Jaycees.

Clark, 34, is an aerospace engineer with Martin-MARIETTA Corp. He and his wife Clara and five children reside at 1305 W. College Ave.

The recipient has been active with youth in Lompoc Valley. He was one of the founders of the Lompoc Youth Football League and is still active as a coach and official. In addition, he is an instructor in the Lompoc Judo Club and has served as vice-president of the Lompoc Little League.

He is a member and past officer of the Lompoc Lions Club, member of the Lompoc Town Band and the La Purisima Church and has worked on numerous community improvement projects.

Anyone who wishes to nominate a young man from the Valley for the monthly Jaycee award should contact Al Walker at RE 6-4521.

Limit placed on concert locations

County supervisors took action this week to limit the location of any rock concerts that conceivably might find a place in the county's unincorporated areas.

The supervisors adopted an ordinance limiting outdoor festivals, including rock concerts, to areas zoned 100-acre general agricultural and 100-acre limited agricultural.

Many such lands are already in agricultural preserves, and Planning Director Herbert Divilbiss said he felt holding a rock concert in agricultural lands of this classification would be "contrary to agricultural preserve contracts" with the county.

Supervisor Curtiss Tunnell had raised the question whether such gatherings could be held in an agricultural preserve. He pointed out most land in 100-acre agricultural category is already in preserves.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir: The certain amount of organized opposition against highway improvement that this newspaper referred to in a July 1 editorial is none other than the people of Lompoc Valley. The citizens, the taxpayers, even the customers of the Lompoc Record.

The program for highway improvement over the hill to Harrison is proposed to cut through and lay 4.2 miles of freeway at a cost of 7.0 to 7.5 million dollars. Certainly we need improved roads but we question whether we lose some sense of value.

Highway engineers are infinitely more conscious of ecology than they were ten years ago but the best to expect in their conscious efforts is to landscape their carvings. In essence: to hide from the public eye what has been done. This is closer to psychology than ecology.

Freeways S-20, Highway 1 and 246 meet in an area geographically ideal in that they are centrally located between Vandenberg Village, Country Club homes and Mission Hills and Lompoc. With a little imagination, next to Hillcrest 9-hole Golf Course, there could be several more service stations or even a shopping complex.

We believe that this ribbon of concrete could do much to hurt the community. The neighboring city of Santa Maria will stand to benefit from the exodus of shoppers leaving Lompoc. After all, the shortest distance between two points is a straight line or in this case a freeway.

Growing opposition (as the Lompoc Record termed it) includes over 1500 people who signed the petition. We feel that many more concerned citizens will join us after all of the facts are brought to light.

With respect to the Lompoc Record's responsibility to others for space in the Letter to the Editor's column, we would like to offer additional information to anyone interested to contact Mrs. Lloyd C. Crossman, RE 3-3459, chairman of the Citizens for the Preservation of Lompoc Surroundings.

New plan told for county lawyers

Instead of granting county government attorneys a substantial immediate pay raise they had sought, the Board of Supervisors authorized a fourth attorney class be set up providing some pay concessions through reclassification.

Supervisors agreed with Administrative Officer Raymond D. Johnson and Personnel Director Wilbur Wagstaff it would not be wise to give county attorneys a pay raise at this time and not give other county employees equal adjustments.

Annual pay adjustment period is set for January each year. Attorneys in the district attorney's office, public defender's office and county counsel's office claimed they had fallen far behind other counties in Southern California in pay schedules.

A new classification was placed at a salary range from $1,209 to $1,469 monthly. It was established with a two-year public law, or four-year private law, experience qualification, to close the experience gap of three years between senior and principal attorneys.

Senior attorneys had had to get along on a monthly salary of $1,096 to $1,332 monthly for three years before being eligible for principal attorney status at $1,332-$1,619 monthly.

AF Association meets July 19

The Santa Barbara Chapter of the Air Force Association will hold a dinner meeting for members and guests on Sunday, July 19th at 6 p.m. in the Galleon Room of the Orchid Bowl, Goleta Valley. This will be the first social meeting of the year and any persons interested in aviation are invited to attend.

Two guest speakers will be featured at the meeting. Heading the program will be Major Diethelm von Eichel - Streiber who flew fighter combat during World War II on the Eastern Front and was officially credited with 96 aerial victories. He will discuss the Luftwaffe fighter combat sorties on the Eastern Front as well as the flying characteristics of some of the German fighter aircraft of that period.

Don Chalif, co-speaker on the program, possesses the world's largest collection of military pilot and crew wings as well as the personally signed pilot photos of all the leading aces of the flying nations from World War I thru World War II to the present time. Chalif will show several of his fighter pilot ace displays and discuss the highpoints of each of the aces' accomplishments.

The evening's agenda will include a no-host cocktail hour at 6 p.m., with a Polynesian buffet dinner served at 7 p.m., followed by the program and movies. Reservations for the evening at $4 per person can be made with Major Ed Warynick at 967-0128. The Galleon Room is located in the Orchid Bowl, 5925 Calle Real, Goleta Valley at the Hwy. 101 and Fairview Avenue exit.

Sports news in brief

Fosse suffering with bruises

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Ray Fosse, the Cleveland Indians' young rookie catcher who was bowled over as the winning run scored in the All-Star baseball game, will miss tonight's game against Kansas City.

Fosse's shoulder was badly bruised in the collision Tuesday night with the Cincinnati Reds' Pete Rose.

'Morganna the kisser' is fined

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Morganna Roberts, the 23-year-old Newport, Ky., stripper who struck out in her effort to kiss a ballplayer during the All-Star baseball game here Tuesday night, was fined $25 Wednesday in Cincinnati's Criminal Court.

Miss Roberts, who has successfully rushed onto baseball fields in the major leagues this season and

"I won't be able to play with this pain," the 23-year-old Fosse said. "It's okay unless I raise my arm."

Indians trainer Wally Brock said Fosse will feel pain for at least three days.

"But there is no separation," said Brock, "and the shoulder should loosen up in the next 24 hours.

Police escorted her out of the Riverfront Stadium Tuesday night before she was able to reach anyone on the teams.

Miss Roberts said she was irked about the way she was apprehended by a policeman's flying tackle.

"He must have thought I was a man," she said.

Lundy announces retirement

The San Diego Chargers Wednesday announced that Lundy, 35, was retiring because of knee problems.

"He gave it a great fight but the doctors said his knee

Sprinter signs with Chiefs

LIBERTY, Mo. (UPI)—Thirty-six rookies showed up for the opening day of training camp for the Kansas City Chiefs Wednesday and Coach Hank Stram said the workout "was typical in that our rookies made a lot of mistakes."

Stram also announced the signing of wide receiver Clyde Glosson, the Chiefs' seventh choice from Texas-El Paso.

Sanders to face Nicklaus, Agnew again

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Doug Sanders has to be a glutton for punishment. On Sunday, he suffered a heartbreaking loss when Jack Nicklaus edged him by one stroke in a playoff for the British Open championship.

Today, he and 146 other players tee off in the opening of the $150,000 Philadelphia golf Classic at the suburban Whitemarsh Valley Country Club.

Among those in the field for the 72-hole tourney? Jack Nicklaus.

And to compound the felony, next Monday Sanders goes to Washington to play golf with, that's

SIGN CONTRACTS

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—University of Wyoming stars Carl Ashley and Stan Dodds signed Wednesday with the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association.

Rock sparks VAFB to 27-2 BR triumph; Lompoc loses

Coasting behind the hitting and pitching of Sam Rock, the Vandenberg AFB Babe Ruth all-stars slaughtered Atascadero 27-2 last night in the opening round of the 13-year-old Southern Section, District Three tourney in San Luis Obispo.

Lompoc's "Traveling" squad fell in yesterday's round, 10-1 to San Luis Obispo. In the only other game, Nipomo got by Paso Robles, 6-5.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

The Vandenberg victory boosted the squad into tonight's featured contest against San Luis at 7 p.m. at Mission Field. Lompoc was slated to meet Paso Robles at 1 p.m., and Arroyo Grande, which drew a bye yesterday, faces Nipomo at 4 p.m. today.

Rock paced Vandenberg's 14-hit attack against two Atascadero pitchers. He slashed out two triples, a double, and a single in his four official trips to the plate, to knock in seven Vandenberg runs.

When he wasn't hitting the ball, Rock was throwing it, limiting Atascadero to only four hits and striking out 13. He did have control problems, but he was able to scatter his nine walks well.

Vandenberg did its biggest damage in the third inning, scoring 11 runs on seven singles. Pat Richmond collected two of the hits in the frame, while Bob Clarkson, Bob Higby, Pete Dennington, Tom Norwillo, and Rock all singled once.

Rock hit a bases-loaded double in the fourth to highlight a nine-run scoring parade. Rusty Doss and Bob Lavin also hit singles in the inning.

Vandenberg's Ray Cook knocked in two runs with a double in the seventh, and Rock scored Cook with a triple to end the scoring assault.

LOMPOC HAS TROUBLE SCORING

Between the steady pitching of Mike Murphy and the excellent fielding of the San Luis Obispo team, Lompoc just didn't seem to be able to score.

In the first inning, Gary Cox raised some hopes as he led off with a walk, stole second, stole third, and came home on an error by the catcher. However, that turned out to be the lone run.

Brian Overman started on the mound for the Lompoc All-Stars. Overman struck out five and gave up only two walks. But he also allowed eight hits. Lompoc also gave Overman little back up support as they made five errors in the field.

Hot fight shaping up in NL East; other races appear unexciting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball fans looking ahead to the second half of the season may find it hard to suppress a yawn. After all, what's to get excited about?

Who's going to knock off Cincinnati, for example? The Reds are 10 games in front in the National League West and scarcely breathing hard.

With 21-year-old Wayne Simpson at 13-1 and Jim Merritt at 14-7 backed by a lineup that haunts the dreams of opposing pitchers, it isn't likely the Reds will be headed off.

In the American League East, Baltimore seems to have exposed the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers as pretenders by capturing series from both clubs just before the All-Star break. The Orioles are impressive with Frank Robinson, the league leader with .330 and Boog Powell, who is hitting

Griffith eyes future after beating Tiger

NEW YORK (UPI)—Emile Griffith grinned broadly as he discussed his future and the sixth world championship it possibly holds, and across the hall, Dick Tiger sat with a towel wrapped around his waist and talked of the past.

Griffith, a five-time world champion, ended the 41-year-old Tiger's title hopes forever Wednesday night by jabbing out an easy 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden. No longer will Nino Benvenuti, the middleweight champion, be able to ignore the 32-year-old Griffith simply because he's eliminated every other contender.

"I don't want to talk about fighting Benvenuti because he keeps ducking me," Griffith said, "but I don't see how he can keep it up. He signed quick to fight Carlos Monzon a couple of weeks ago because he didn't want to wait around and see if I beat Tiger."

It was a bitter defeat for Tiger, who came out of Nigeria to win the world middleweight and light heavyweight titles and run up a 61-17-3 record during his 18-year career.

ROOM FOR LONBORG

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox made room Wednesday for the return of pitcher Jim Lonborg by optioning pitcher Jose Santiago to Louisville of the International League. Lonborg, the 1967 American League Cy Young Award winner, was placed on the disabled list last month after injuring his shoulder

Lompoc to meet Arroyo Grande for playoffs

Arroyo Grande won its first American Legion league title ever yesterday, with a 14-5 romp over Atascadero. The triumph gave the squad the northern league championship and with that, the right to face Lompoc's American Legion southern league champs this weekend.

The two squads will meet in a best-of-three series to determine which team will play District 16, Southern Section winner Ventura. This weekend's series will open in Arroyo Grande Saturday at the Valley Road campus of Arroyo Grande High School.

The first game is slated for noon, Saturday, with the second contest getting underway 45 minutes after the conclusion of the first. Should a third game be necessary, the teams will return to Lompoc for a 1 p.m. game Sunday at the Lompoc High School diamond.

Arroyo Grande infielder Stan Ikeda paced the triumph yesterday with a four-for-five plate effort. Greg Porter ripped three singles, while Andy Geremia and Ken Banks collected a pair of singles each.

John Porter pitched the triumph, going the route and allowing nine hits to Atascadero.

Arroyo Grande finished up the season with a 7-1 mark, beating out San Luis Obispo (6-2) by just one game for the title.

Long-haired Gabriel says

Rams will have better year

LONG BEACH (UPI)—They'll never accuse Roman Gabriel of being on the square side. Not with his hair.

The quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams is working out with his teammates at Wilson High School without supervision here and his hair is noticeably longer than it was last season.

In fact, Gabriel looks like he's ready to join a rock group.

Last year's Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, who sported a crew cut when the Rams picked him from North Carolina State in the first round of the 1962 pro football draft, isn't worried about what his coach will say.

"When George Allen takes over, I won't have time for haircuts. I always get my own trim the day before we go to our training camp."

The Wilson High field is across the road from Ram headquarters at Blair Field, from which the NFL barred all players Wednesday.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pounder signal caller supports the Players Association against the owners but says:

"I hope this thing doesn't drag out. I think both sides could afford to give a little ground."

Gabriel said there won't be any pro football if an agreement is not reached.

"We aren't going to camp without a contract or a binding agreement of some kind," he said. "No businessmen or business groups do."

The Rams lost to Minnesota 23-20 in the NFL's Western Conference championship game last year to dull an otherwise outstanding year.

The big quarterback thinks the club will be improved this season despite the loss of two veterans — linebacker

Maxie Baughan and safetyman Eddie Meador.

"We'll have a better team than we had last year," Gabriel said confidently.

"We're going to miss Eddie Meador and Maxie Baughan but I like our replacements for them—Alvin Raymond, Jim Purnell and the others.

"They'll settle into the team eventually. As I see the season, we'll just all have to play harder until the new men take over."

VAFB to help AF Museum with tourney

A golf tournament is scheduled for July 22-23 at the Vandenberg AFB course to raise money for the new Air Force Museum being built at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Open to all active duty and retired military personnel, entry fee will be $5 for the 18-hole, full handicap play. Fifty per cent of the entry fee will be donated to the Museum and the rest returned to participants in gift certificates redeemable at the course Pro Shop. The two week-day dates are in hopes of attracting more players.

Players will be grouped into flights of 16 each, with the lowest handicappers comprising the first flight. A shot-gun tee-off will begin each day at 1 p.m. Four prizes will be awarded in each flight with low scores on holes as tie breakers. Two-hundred golfers are anticipated, if more arrive the course has been reserved for July 24.

Volunteers are being solicited as ball spotters on certain holes to cut down time looking for lost balls. Paul Bennett, greens superintendent, has assured that all pin placements will not be cut on hillsides.

An awards presentation will follow the 1st day of tournament.

Pensions, insurance subjects of NFL talks

NEW YORK (UPI)—A difference of $2 million a year in pension and insurance benefit contributions is the primary cause of the current dispute between the National Football League Players Association and the 26 NFL club owners.

The players association has proposed that benefit contributions on the part of the owners be increased by $3.6 million a year while the owners have offered an increase of $1.6 million, it was revealed today by Tom Vance, the public relations director for the association.

In addition to their lower figure, the owners' offer, according to Vance, "was conditioned on the players agreeing to reduce their post season game pay and permanently waiving all financial rights to their licensing revenues."

The post season games in question include the Pro Bowl and championship games but not the Super Bowl.

"If the players made these personal concessions," Vance added, "It would cost them at least $600,000 a year."

The association contends that a projected $10 to $13 million increase in television revenues alone for the NFL make the player proposal reasonable.

While the dispute rages, College All Star football players were back on the field today in Evanston, Ill., following a oneday strike in support of the players association.

"We have decided that we have accomplished what we decided to accomplish by striking one day in backing up the player's association," All Star spokesman Steve Tannen said Wednesday night following a team meeting. "But we also felt duty to the All Star game and to the people who are helped by its charities so we felt it best to resume practice."

Otto Graham, coach of All Stars, attended the meeting and urged the players to show up for supervised preparation for the annual game with the Kansas City Chiefs July 31.

Graham told the squad meeting that the coaches could report for practice on schedule Thursday morning and that he hoped the players also would report.

The players boycotted organized practice Wednesday. Some players, however, worked out individually.

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Billie Jean King will be back. America's first lady of tennis says so.

Mrs. King is scheduled to undergo an operation to remove part of her right kneecap at a Long Beach hospital next Thursday. She had the same operation on her left knee two years ago.

"I may feel a lot differently about it six weeks from now but right now I want to be back playing in tournaments again in January," she said Wednesday.

Mrs. King lost to Australia's Margaret Court 14-12, 11-9 in the Wimbledon finals this month.

"The more I think about it," she said, "the more I know I wouldn't like going out a loser."

Mrs. King, 26, knows the rehabilitation will be long.

"Gosh, the pain is awful and my legs will be withered away to almost nothing," she explained. "It will be like learning to walk all over again."

Her husband, Larry, 23, works for a law firm in Honolulu and is involved in tennis promotion.

Tigers trade no-hit pitcher

DETROIT (UPI) — Maybe Earl Wilson's luck will be better in San Diego.

It certainly can't get any worse than it was when the right-handed pitcher was a member of the Detroit Tigers, which he was until sold in a waiver transaction to the Padres Wednesday.

Wilson, 34, pitched a no-hitter as a member of the Boston Red Sox against the California Angels on June 26, 1962 and won 22 games as a Tiger in 1967.

But Wilson compiled marks of 13-12 and 12-10 the past two seasons with a propensity for injuries to his pitching hand—because he stopped batted balls with it—and his legs—because he stopped hits with them, too, when he wasn't suffering pulled leg muscles.

He had only a 4-6 record thus far this season with a 4.45 earned run average after ERAs of 3.07, 3.27 and 2.85 the previous three seasons. He has a 120-103 career won-lost record.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—As far as commanding national attention goes, the Pittsburgh Pirates are no match for the New York Mets, but they are doing better than, say, Halley's comet, which comes around once every 76 years. The Pirates come around once every 10.

It was in 1960 that sportswriter America last focused its attention on the sleeveless men who played their baseball on the banks of the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio Rivers in a venerable ball yard called Forbes Field. The Pirates won the World Series that year, beating the New York Yankees in seven games, and then floated out for nine years of celestial slumber.

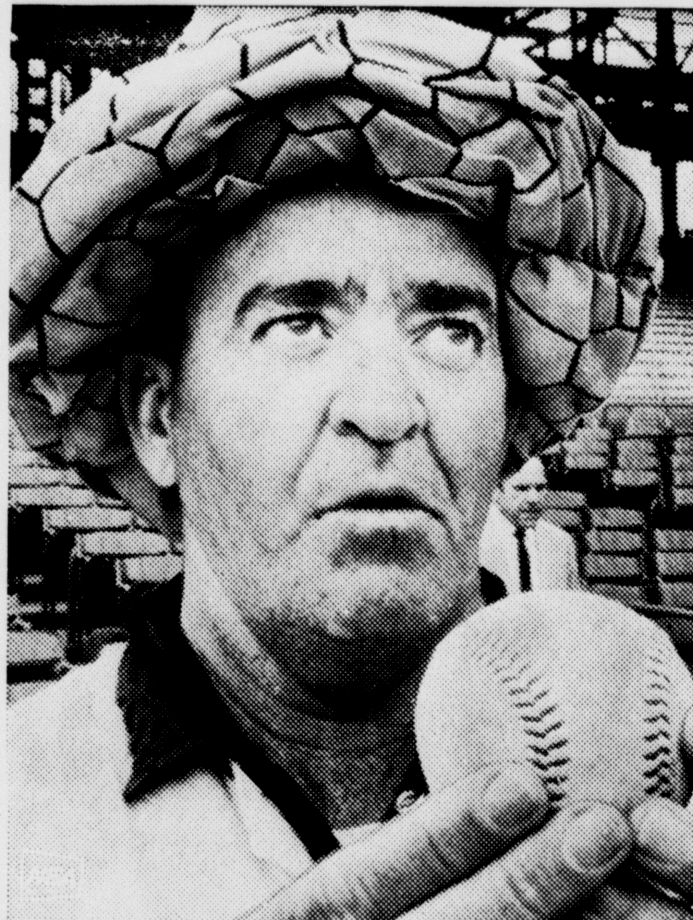

Three presidents and three baseball commissioners later, in midseason of 1970, the Pirates reappeared in the high heavens of the National League standings but, like Halley's comet itself will discover in 1986, a lot of things have changed since the last visit. The Pirates are chasing the Mets now and back in 1960, you might recall, the only Met fans in New York were applauding Lucia de Lamermoor, not Hobie Land-rith.

Reappearing on the horizon, too, are three men from that Pirate team, each a little plumper than the last time anybody noticed them. Danny Murtaugh, Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazeroski, now that Forbes Field itself has inhaled its last naving customer, are the only remaining relics of that October day nearly 10 years ago when the steel mills stopped spewing smoke and men came up from the coal mines to celebrate in the streets the world championship.

Murtaugh, 52, his left cheek bulging with tobacco, his face smudged with the charcoal of five o'clock shadow, returned as manager of the Pirates this season with, zodiacally speaking, his stars in the right places during years that end with 0s. In 1940, he had his best playing year in the minor leagues (.299 at Houston), in 1950 his best year in the majors (.294 with the Pirates) and in 1960, of course, his best year on the front steps of dugouts.

Considering this, one might conclude that the 1970 Pirates already have their natals and their aspects in proper working order, not to mention their moods and postures. But Murtaugh, speaking through teeth blackened by chew, claims no astrological advantages and does not like this Pirate team, horoscopically or otherwise, to his team of 1960.

"The two teams," Murtaugh said, "are not really alike. We did have some good, young players back in 1960 and we do have some more this season. But our pitching may have been a little stronger back then, especially from the bullpen. Myself? I'm happy to be back, but I really can't predict anything. No, this isn't like 1960 at all. Some of the kids on this team were just babies then."

Clemente, 36, somehow survived the previous decade despite, not necessarily in order, stomach aches, broken fingers, back aches, excess nervousness and insomnia. He has been called the game's leading hypochondriac and in this, his 16th season with the Pirates, he is leading the team in hitting—and hurting—again.

"This season," said Clemente, "my neck has been bothering me. I've been putting it in traction before games to ease the pain. My back is all right and I've been sleeping all right, but the neck? It's still there, but that's about all I can say for it."

Mazeroski, 33, is perhaps the Pirate most remembered from 1960. It was his home run in the bottom of the ninth inning of the seventh game that won the World Series. Last June, he pulled a thigh muscle in his left leg—his first serious injury in 14 Pirate seasons—and did more sitting than playing the rest of the season.

Now he even has a caddy.

Forbes Field, Clemente asked if he could have the word "Pittsburgh" and the No. "21" (his own) from the scoreboard there. The club obliged.

But to the younger Pirates, the abandonment of Forbes Field had few nostalgic overtones. As Cash, the 22-year-old rookie second baseman, said: "The new park is super. Forbes Field? It doesn't mean too much to me. When Maz hit his home run, I was 12 years old."

MORAGA (UPI)—The Saint Mary's College basketball team has recruited last season's national junior college scoring leader, Earl Brown of Chesapeake College, Va., Gaels Coach Bruce Hale called the 6-0 guard "very quick, an excellent outside shooter and a very clever ball handler."

Rays of hope

What with the multitude of crises which seem to fill the world horizon in these times, the occasional hint of good news comes along as a welcome and sometimes surprising relief.

Such is the case with reports from Vienna on the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks — or SALT, as our passion for tricky acronyms has tagged this potentially historic confrontation. They don't make banner headlines because there is as yet nothing sensational to report — no breakthrough concessions, no hard-won agreements on treaty wording. But observers of the Vienna sessions are persistently encouraging that the United States and Soviet Union are moving, in fact, toward agreement to cool the nuclear arms race.

What is under discussion in Vienna is the very basis of the world power equation — the capabilities of the two superpowers to devastate each other, and the rest of the world in the process, and their willingness to place limits on those capabilities, and possibly even reduce them.

SALT was a long time in the preparation and will be a long time in the playing out. But the very fact that it can continue, and progress, despite Indochina, the Mideast and other major and minor points of conflict must be taken as significant.

SALT also serves as a significant reminder that other talks on other issues are going on at several other points. Most prominently, of course, around a square table in Paris. The four-party wrangle over Vietnam has so far been primarily a propaganda exercise in charges and countercharges, but no delegation has yet written them off, packed up and gone home. They are still there and available should the moment and inclination for serious negotiations ever come.

Quiet words continue to be exchanged about the tinderbox Mideast. The Big Four talks begun at the United Nations with considerable fanfare last year, and then virtually written off when no basis for agreement immediately surfaced, have not been abandoned. Nothing substantial has come out of it as yet, but the talking continues. While a Mideast settlement, if such is ever achieved, must be first the decision and the work of Arab and Israeli, it must also include the outside forces which are the real power in this struggle.

These same four great powers are also talking quietly about a problem of 25 years — Berlin. Again, nothing of substance so far reported, but the continuing contact serves to keep the Berlin issue off the crisis list, and that is something in itself.

And last, and probably also least at the present frigid state of relations, there are the Warsaw "talks" between the ambassadors to Poland of the United States and Communist China. This marathon series has been most noted for numerous changes of participants, lengthy silences and frequent postponements. But contact continues.

All of this may appear to be a great deal of talk for very little of substance to show for it.

But as has been noted at a previous delicate stage of modern history, talk, talk has its points as an alternative to war, war.

British education

School Supt. Glen Wegner told the school board Tuesday what a lot of experts have been telling the public for some time, namely that we may be unintentionally creating dumb students in the classroom.

His remarks were based on a survey of British infant schools recently.

Wegner told the board that the British system has been under way since the end of World War II. In fact some aspects of the present system seem to have originated as a result of the strictures of German bombing.

Wegner explained that teachers had to conduct classes of mixed age groups in the restricted areas of a bomb shelter and thus was born the realization the class size was not an automatic disadvantage and that mixed age classes had a great deal of merit.

The classes studied by Wegner were composed of kindergarten through the next couple of grades.

Some educators have argued for some time that a child learns best or at least a great deal from his peers or from other children who are just a step ahead, agewise.

It's kind of an impromptu, one to one kind of thing that has apparently borne fruit in Britain, according to Wegner.

The British system is not universal but it will be in time, indicating a growing acceptance of the program. Classes are limited to 40 students and from what Wegner says the larger class sizes may even have advantages. Current thought in the United States is that there is a direct correlation between adequate learning and reduced class size. There has been intense pressure especially in such large centers as Los Angeles and New York to keep the size below 25 students per class.

Wegner was emphatic that the British system was producing more personal responsibility among the younger students, because of an unstructured classroom program; and more than that was generating more genuine personal enthusiasm.

Wegner noted that the British schools patterned after those he surveyed, were doing a better job of educating the young, and at less cost. He said that the system was based on practicality in the materials used in the classroom. Basic reasoning was encouraged in contrast to learning by rote. And the children brought all kinds of odds and ends from home to add the class lessons. For example children might bring bottle caps, pieces of string, paper, bottles, boxes or whatever. A math lesson might be illustrated by the strategic shifting of a series of bottle caps.

Wegner called the duplicating processes of local schools the worst crutch that we have. He noted that the British schools avoided the hazard of having copies of the same material in the hands of all students. Color slides of some of the British schools indicated that the students were doing different things at the same time. There were few blackboards and the walls of the rooms were jammed not with neat examples of commercial or professional art work, but rather with the spontaneous results of unstructured thinking.

Wegner noted that a teacher frequently devoted durable moments of private instruction to an individual or small groups while other groups in the same room were pursuing their own courses independently.

The aim of much of this was to develop individual thinking rather than the structured thinking of a textbook, and at the same time accord the individual the kind of personal respect and consideration that in Wegner's view inspired the keenest interest.

The British schools make valuable use of student aides who apparently develop such a close relationship with the young students that they are able to compile a thoroughly grounded history of each individual child.

Wegner said the experience had been a valuable one and that it would be reflected in his own thoughts on education. More on this later.

They may work all right for others, but for us those crispy breakfast cereals just go pop, crackle - soggy.

We're betting on the fellow across the desk from us to win thirst-prize at the plant picnic.

One thing is to be said for commercials: They're a great relief from the summer programming.

On the Right by William Buckley

Nixon and the election

There is a political contest going on in New York State which is of extra-provincial interest, and I pause to remark that one of the contestants is my brother, James L. Buckley. I trust that it will be obvious to any fair-minded reader, and even to the majority of unfair-minded readers, that it is inconceivable that what I proceed to write is affected by my biological ties with Jim. I shall even refrain from mentioning any of his personal qualities (what the rhetoricians call paralepsis!), and confine myself to the objective situation.

will be counseling the President against support, however attenuated, for someone running on a third-party ticket. That would further the Balkanization of the American two-party system. In fact, the arguments to the contrary are more persuasive. What Richard Nixon fears most, or should fear most, is the Wallace Right. Insofar as gentlemen with the voting record of Charles Goodell succeed, through the machinations of party bosses, in imposing themselves as representatives of the Republican Party in the Senate of the United States, there is resentment. Resentment by those who believe that the Republican Party is indifferent to what they understand to be Republican principles.

There is the further factor. If New York Republicans repudiate Goodell, they are indirectly instructing successor - managers of the New York Republican Party that they desire moderate candidates to represent them. In so doing, surely they increase the strength of the Republican Party nationally, which has everything to gain from discouraging the right-wing third parties that are always threatening, as in Virginia, New Jersey, and elsewhere. The arguments add up to a decorously active White House backing for James L. Buckley, and to a neglect, somewhat less than benign, of Charles Goodell.

Fine message

When Major General Clifford J. Kronauer departs from Vandenberg Air Force Base this weekend the Lompoc Valley will be bidding farewell to a good friend. For during his three year tour at Vandenberg, General Kronauer has made a lasting impression on all with whom he has come in contact.

The military Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce had a little going away party for the general the other evening, at which several of the community's representatives expressed the thanks of the community. The general was presented with resolutions of appreciation from the city and county governing bodies, but these documents were only an outward expression of the deep feelings of gratitude which I am sure permeated all present for the many contributions which General Kronauer has made to this community during his stay.

As is usual at affairs of this nature, the honoree was asked to say a few words to those present. This the general did, and a finer talk I have seldom heard.

General Kronauer did, to be sure, express his thanks for the honor given him that night. But he did more. He reminded us all of the great principles upon which this country of ours was founded, and instilled in us a desire to re-assess our own lives as far as our dedication to these principles is concerned.

Without fancy oratory, he, for a few moments, let us look into his soul and see what it is that makes truly great men tick. And I don't think it is going too far to say that General Kronauer, in his own way, is one of this nation's truly great patriots.

He reiterated some of the principles in which he believes. He told us that he has made the military life a career because he firmly believes that this country was founded on good principles, and that he believes still that these principles are worth defending.

He expressed a heartfelt gratitude to the people of this community, and to the people of the nation, for giving him the opportunity to be of service to them over the past years, and that he hopes to continue serving their best interests.

He left no doubt in the minds of any of us that he is a dedicated servant of the nation in which we live. But more than that, he expressed his belief that service in the military must be based on the desires of the people from whom the powers and authority of government are derived.

As General Kronauer moves on to his next assignment, he takes the best wishes of this community with him for another successful command.

Also, he leaves with the knowledge that should he ever have occasion to return, he shall be most welcome.
